Jennifer,

There shouldn't be any difficulty getting to a facility before 2 PM with your arrival time at 10 AM.

Best,

Emily Montague

Thank you for the clarification, Steven. Sirese and I can look at alternate travel arrangements if necessary to avoid the need to coordinate with an operator in advance. Emily, based on your response below, do you think it's not possible to get to a facility before 2 with a 10 AM arrival in Boise?

Thanks!

Mitch, Emily and Dr. Adhikari,

In general EPA does unannounced inspections as it allows the inspector to observe normal facility operations, rather than a facility that has been prepared for an inspection. All the CAFO inspections that have been conducted over the past several years and the last round in Idaho were unannounced. EPA does announce certain inspections like Military Bases, North Slope Remote Oil Facilities, and Oil Platforms. It just depends on the type of facility and situation.

Dear Jennifer,

I will see if I can coordinate a facility with a producer available at that time. Typically the producers have left by 2pm, but I will see what we can come up with and get back to you soon.

Best Regards,

Emily Montague

Thanks so much, Mitch!

We're looking at flights – can you let us know if this passes the laugh test?

The earliest reasonable flight to Boise on Monday arrives at 10 AM. We're thinking we could be to EPA by 11, meet your folks and IDEQ somewhere, and get out to a facility no later than 2. Does that sound right to you? And is my assumption correct that you meant we need to be at a facility by 2 to find an operator there? Or did you mean that we need to finish up with inspections by 2?

Thank you!
